

MANY TOWNS ARE UNDER CONTROL OF THE INSURGENTS

Recent Arrivals From Mexico Bring Reports of Another Battle Between the State Troops and Revolutionists.

By Associated Press.
EL PASO, Dec. 1.—Passengers arriving from Madera, Chihuahua, on the first train from there since November 23, say that every town on the railroad line between Chihuahua and Madera except one are held by the insurgents. Many Americans are bringing their families out of the disturbed district.

An Associated Press correspondent at Chihuahua city reports a serious clash at Padernales, 50 miles west of Chihuahua, between 150 government troops and a larger body of insurgents. The soldiers were fired at from roofs and windows while marching through the town. An official report says that nine government soldiers and twenty-seven insurgents were slain. Other reports say these government soldiers were not killed, but were taken prisoners.

TAX RECEIPTS SHOW NEAT INCREASE OVER THE LAST YEAR

Property Owners Are Paying Their Taxes With Great Regularity This Year and Books Show Many 1910 Receipts Issued.

If the matter of tax collections is any criterion to the business and industrial life of a community (and it is generally considered as such), then Nye county is in a comparatively healthy condition.

Up to last evening the Nye county treasurer had issued 1910 tax receipts to the extent of $25,822.02. The receipts up to the same date last year were $23,021.78, making an increase this year over last of $2,800.24. It might be said that the increase would amount approximately to $5,000, as the unworked remittances that had been received at the treasurer's office would easily make up the difference.

Many property owners complain about high taxes. Much of this is from force of habit; yet there is some merit in the complaint, although it is hard to see where the levy could be reduced or valuations lowered, consistent with the proper government of the county. At any rate people seem to be anxious to hold on to their property and are paying taxes with more promptness and better grace than heretofore. This is particularly applicable to the Manhattan and Round Mountain sections, and to ranch or outside property. There will be a falling off, doubtless, in tax receipts from the Bullfrog country, but it is thought that the deficiency from the south will be more than made up by receipts from the Manhattan section, which is conceded to be in a very healthy condition.

As usual, most of the collections are expected within the last few days. After Monday, Dec. 5, taxes will become delinquent, when the 10 per cent penalty will be added. The delinquent tax sale will occur on the third Monday in January, 1911.

DESIROUS OF PAINTING PORTRAIT OF GOV. ODDIE

SOME KIND OF A JOKE HAS BEEN PLAYED ON WILL HEFFERNAN

It is a great thing to get into the public light, and this is exemplified by a letter received by State Senator-elect Will F. Heffernan of Goldfield a few days ago. In commenting upon the occurrence, the Tribune has the following to say:

Senator-elect Will F. Heffernan received a letter yesterday signed "Eva Shaw," but which he is certain is the product of the fine Italian hand of one Fred Fontaine, formerly assistant secretary of the Goldfield stock exchange. The text of the letter, which is self-explanatory, follows:

"San Francisco, Nov. 26, 1910.

"Hon. Will F. Heffernan,
"Goldfield, Nev.

"Dear Sir:—I notice in the paper that you have been elected state senator and I want to enlist your services in my behalf to secure for me the position of painting the governor's portrait.

"I have had much experience in drawing. When a mere child I once 'drew' a small carload of little turnips over a wooden bridge. The people of the village noticed me. I 'drew' their attention.

"Since childhood I have kept up my drawing and have been most successful. My drawing on imagination and checks is now in the gallery (rogues').

"Nevada could well afford to pay $3000 to have an oil painting of its chief executive, and if you will secure this position for me I will do you up in oil (a la sardine) gratis, with your hand on the governor's shoulder.

"Kindly wire me at once, so that I can commence to do a little mixing before the legislature meets.

"Yours sincerely,
"EVA SHAW.
"1000 Pine street, San Francisco.

"P. S.—If you are single I have another proposition for you. E. S."
